

EMERGENCY WARMING CENTERS

With temperatures potentially decreasing, the City of Peru has several warming centers available for those in need. Below you will find a list of warming centers with their address, hours, and phone numbers. Additionally, you will find other helpful information.

Warmth and Your Safety

When the temperature decreases, it is essential to dress appropriately and avoid staying in the cold too long. Wear layered clothing, mittens or gloves, and a hat. Outer garments should be tightly woven and water-repellent if possible. Cover your mouth to protect your lungs from severely cold air. Avoid taking deep breaths; minimize talking. Walk carefully on snowy, icy sidewalks. If a person gets too cold, it can lead to severe medical issues. This is known as hypothermia. It is essential to watch for signs of hypothermia.
